"The Ottawa Spotlight"

(By Spectator)
A Weekly Review of National Affairs

Ottawa, July 6th.—The fears that overshadow the world from the unrest of two continents centering about Tientsin in China and Danzig in the Baltic were reflected in the statement of the prime minister, Mr. King when he announced that it would be some little time before he would decide when an election would be called. "At the moment," Mr. King said, "matters are very serious. We all hope they will improve but I would like to take at least part of the summer to consider the Atlantic and European situations before launching a campaign." Mr. King referred to the recent remarks of the premier of France, Mr. Daladier, which were very grave. The statement was made in Halifax, British foreign secretary, has since emphasized the seriousness of the situation. There was the possibility that the Canadian ultimatum might have to be called in special session, as was contemplated last summer when the Munich pact gathered to a head, the prime minister stated. "If things considered," said Mr. King, "I believe much might be gained and nothing lost by waiting a few weeks before reaching a decision about the general election."

These days there is a weekly meeting of the cabinet and the matters now under consideration is who will be the members of the new defence purchasing board. This board was authorized by an act passed during the past session. Its functions will be to make contracts for munitions and equipment for Canada's defence needs. The department of national defence will regulate whatever is needed and the board will immediately see about asking for tenders and placing the contract. There are a number of appointments to be made in various branches of the government, the personnel of the pensionaries being one, but it may be assumed that foremost in the minds of government members is the personnel of the defence purchasing board. Mr. King by statute is an integral and most essential part of the machinery of rearmament.

Manufacturers Seek British Munitions Orders
At a conference between members of the Canadian manufacturers association and members of the Dominion cabinet, the manufacturers have been informed that the government is not only willing but anxious to have Canadian manufacturers obtain arms orders from the United Kingdom. The stories to the contrary are wholly unfounded. At this meeting following the manufacturers convention at Biggin, Ontario, the high commission in London to see that the manufacturers association explained to the prime minister and his associates that they contemplated sending a group of experienced Canadian manufacturers to England to study British war munition needs that could be made in Canada and to get orders. The prime minister told the delegates that this mission would be helped by the government. A cable would be sent to Mr. Massey, the high commissioner in London to see that the manufacturers were introduced to the proper authorities. The technical officials of the department of national defence would also lend their assistance. It was pointed out at the same time that contracts would have to be made direct between Canadian manufacturers and the British authorities. The Canadian government could not act as agents for either the purchase or the manufacture of munitions for the British Government. The prime minister has been informed officially and in writing that they would come such orders, but he made it clear that Canadian companies must make their contracts direct with the British government.

Alter Propaganda in Canada
There is every indication that government departments are becoming more and more concerned with the spread of subversive propaganda in Canada. During the last session members of parliament on several occasions drew the attention of the house to the growth and boldness of this propaganda, and have protested against its continuance. In a last of free speech there is a wide latitude given to the expression of individual opinions and for this reason the forces of the crown move forward with caution and deliberation in affairs of this kind than in non-democratic countries. During the session the minister of justice, Mr. Bennett, stated that the department through

R.C.M.P. was keeping close watch on subversive propaganda from all sources. The feeling is growing in Ottawa that the time is becoming ripe for more rigorous measures of prevention through various departments including officials at ports of entry where objectionable political literature gains access to this country. These customs officials, as well as officials of the post office department, justice and external affairs are all alerted to the urgency of combating the evil of the spread of literature which aims at the disruption of our political integrity. Most of the propaganda is from Nazi sources although some is of communist origin.

While the shadow of world affairs across the capital at Ottawa, the domestic situation is felt by all official circles to hold one very important feature which should promote optimism. That is the crop situation in the West, with all that it has meant for the economic life of Canada, to purchasing power in the West, to railway earnings, to the farm implement and other industries. The prospect of a return of the province of Saskatchewan to its one time status as a vast wheat producing area is remarked upon with satisfaction.

WEDDINGS

OLDHAM—FREEMAN

St. Michael & All Angels' Church, was the scene of a pretty wedding on the afternoon of June 28th, when Margaret, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freeman, became the bride of Mr. John Oldham, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oldham. Rev. George W. Lang officiated. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a suit of pale blue with pale coral, with white accessories and a corsage of orange blossoms and fern. The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Freeman, sister of the bride, wearing a pale blue crepe afternoon dress, with white accessories; and Miss Beattie Oldham, sister of the groom, attired in pale yellow, with white accessories. Each bridesmaid wore a corsage of roses and fern. Mr. Tom Oldham was the groomsmen, wearing a navy blue suit with a white tie. The wedding march was played by Miss Violet Hyde, who also played "Because," during the signing of the Register. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with only the immediate family present. The bride and groom were happily proposed by Rev. Geo. W. Lang. The bride's mother was becomingly attired in navy blue with a white tie, with matching hat, and wore a corsage of blue lilies. The bridegroom's mother wore an afternoon dress of navy blue with lace inserts and a green corsage, with a corsage of pale yellow lilies. Later the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to Calgary and Banff. For travelling the bride donned a flowered bolero ensemble with white hat, gloves and purse. It was an occasion of mixed emotion.

Games and races for all provided merry entertainment. A bounteous picnic was served, the table being centred with an angel food cake prettily laid, and decorated with wedding favors. This was cut by Miss Polk and passed for each pupil present to have a piece.

Much fun was created when Ralph Harwood and Dorcas Island quality dressed as miniature bride and groom, presented Miss Polk with a beautiful crystal vase and a clever little speech being made by the small bride. Miss Polk replied with equal grace and pressed very warm thanks to the pupils and her co-teachers and said she would carry many pleasant memories of her teaching days in Strathmore.

Postmaster James Martin - - Deceased.

One of Strathmore's colorful personalities in the person of our local Postmaster, James Henry Milham Martin, passed away at his home this evening, after a prolonged illness, death being hastened by a stroke, Monday.

The late Mr. Martin was born in Cirencester, Gloucestershire, England, in 1881. He came to Canada in 1906. He was employed for a time in 1906, later serving as a bookkeeper at the Post Office.

Mr. Martin came to Strathmore in 1907. In 1908 he entered the service of George Lloyd, who was the owner of the business in Strathmore at the time, operating the King Edward Hotel, the grocery, the livery, the blacksmith shop, and the post office.

On January 5, 1919 he married Miss Edith R. McKen, B. A., first teacher of the Strathmore School.

In 1919 Mr. Martin built the store adjoining the Royal Bank, which he operated as a grocery and confectionery business, until 1934, when he retired for over-sea services. He suffered during the service from a badly diseased jaw-bone and was discharged by the medical authorities. He would not, however, accept his discharge and was over-sea in 1932 with the 50th Battalion. He was several times wounded and was in hospital in England when the Armistice was signed. On Feb. 28, 1919, he was discharged with Honor, Mr. Martin receiving a certificate signed by King George V, a decoration, signed by King George V, and which he has justly proud.

He returned to Strathmore in 1919 and in 1920 he was appointed by the Dominion Gov't as Postmaster, which position he has held until his death. He took him. In politics he was a staunch Liberal. Mr. Martin was not a club man, as this term is generally understood; politics, pioneer anecdotes and the Canadian Legion all, or his outside interest.

He was survived by his wife and two sons, Harold Ralph Milham Martin and Brian Ross Milham Martin. The funeral will be held from Strathmore Undertaking Parlor, at 3 p.m., the Rev. T. B. Winter, conducting the service.

Canadian Lumber In Great Britain

Sale of Canadian lumber in the British market is expected to receive new impetus as a result of the decision to include this product in the "Canada Clasp" campaign under which Canadian goods are advertised and merchandised in Britain by the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce.

Scriptural citations in "And they came" campaign reveals that it will have the full cooperation of the Eastern Canada and British Columbia Timber Commissioners who are resident in London and will be directed, particularly to the attention of British architects, builders and manufacturers.

The importance of the British market for Canadian lumber and wood products is indicated by the fact that purchases of these commodities from the Dominion in 1938 were valued at $28,282,968 of which $22,669,391 consisted of square timber planks and boards, veneers, shingles and other manufactured or partly manufactured wood products. The remainder was made up of wood pulp, doors and other manufactured products.

The Junk Box—

My father often used to say:
"My boy don't throw a thing away;
You'll find a use for it some day."
So in a box he stored up things,
Screw nails, old washers, pipes and rings,
And bolts and nuts and rusty springs.

Despite each blemish and each flaw,
He never threw a man away.
With things material, this was law.
And often when he'd work to do,
He searched the junk box through and through
And found old stuff as good as new.

And I have often thought since then,
That father did the same with men.
He knew he'd need their help again.

It seems to me he understood
That men, as well as iron and wood,
May broken be and still be good.

Despite his vices he'd display
He never threw a man away.
But kept him for another day.

A human junk box is this earth,
And men are tossed at birth,
To wait the day we'll be worth.

Though bent and twisted, weak of will
And full of flaws and lacking skill,
Some service each can render still.

Searle Precipitation Report

The moisture condition, which is the foundation of the wheat and other crops in Western Canada, at this moment is better than it has been at this particular date at any time since the year 1925.

The recent unusually heavy rains, however, while they have brought about a most generous growth in the plants, have tended to keep a cool atmosphere, and so have somewhat retarded plant maturity, which, on the average, is now probably about one week later than normal.

Taking the rains which have fallen from April 1st to June 25th, and combining them with the precipitation which occurred last autumn, during August, September and October, and then weighing the whole for wheat average, we find the present moisture condition for the three Prairie Provinces as a unit is now 123 per cent—figuring the longtime average or normal at 100—as compared with 115 per cent last week and 84 per cent at this time a year ago.

For Alberta the similar moisture condition is now 115 per cent of normal as compared with 109 per cent last week and 90 per cent at this time last year.

For Saskatchewan the similar condition is 135 per cent as compared with 126 per cent last week and 84 per cent at this time last year.

Possible damage by grasshoppers now looms up as the most menacing factor that could harm the forth coming crop. What this will be is difficult to forecast because of the unknown damage done to grasshoppers themselves by the recent heavy rains.

Edmonton Letter

(By T. B. Windsor)

Edmonton, July 6.—Social Credit as a federal party ducked into cover last week under the wing of Hon. W. D. Herridge's "New Democracy" party. The post claims of Social Credit sympathizers that the economic theories of that name require a national party in power at Ottawa to inspire them were constitutionally disappeared in the wind.

Premier William Aberhart of Alberta, hastened to embrace Herridge's new party in federal politics and said that Social Crediters would be "eligible" for nomination as "New Democracy" candidates for parliament.

"I have been slow to support this movement," said Aberhart in a statement Friday, "until I could hear its working principles and its definite objects fully declared. These we have heard now, and it is with some degree of pleasure that I declare my wholehearted support of the same."

Herridge's platform was announced in his speech, and made promise of benefits to everyone except the wicked "international finance," the so-called "reactionaries" and those poor unprincipled people who believe in maritime law and so might wonder how he could keep all his promises at once.

The "old-line" parties (which will be his opponents in the election) came in for a special scorn. He was given his start in life by them; he got his only prominence and his only experience in public affairs from the Conservative party, and remained with it until after his job as minister to Washington was finished and he did not get the nomination for party leadership a year ago. He unveiled the party last July in a speech at the Conservative convention, and in the hall at the time was Hon. H. H. Stevens, who in 1925 had broken away from the Conservatives, set himself up as leader of an opposition party, and met a crushing repulse at the polls although he had a strong "reform" platform.

Although the Social Credit party has lowered its flag in federal politics it is expected to keep up its front in the provincial field until the next provincial election. "We have always held," said Aberhart in his preliminary statement, "that Social Credit principles in their essential application were particularly for the affairs of the province." And the party is expected to try for re-election in Alberta despite the failure of the sale of "New Democracy" propaganda in the past two months; the dwindling membership in the Social Credit League and the "bargain-price" sale of associate memberships; the boxing of Aberhart over happenings during the royal visit; the controversy in the Calgary organization; and the sudden cancellation last week of Aberhart's projected speaking tour. But there are indications that the provincial election now will be delayed as long as possible.

In Calgary, the oil probe was informed that half of all tax revenue each year in Alberta is collected through the petroleum industry—$4,600,911 last year.

The Canadian National railways and the Canadian Pacific railway paid over to the province $5,300,000 last week as the last instalment of the purchase price of the Northern Alberta railways under the contract made with the U. F. A. government years ago. The payment was used to retire bank loans made to the province, and electors can now expect new money without reduction of the provincial debt by this government.

Meeting at Red Deer, the Alberta Board of Trade and Agriculture advised the dominion government to disallow the Limitations of Actions act, the Judicature act, and the Land Titles act amendments passed at the last session of the legislature, and urged the provincial government not to enforce the Livestock Markets act or the Natural Products Marketing act without more consideration of their disastrous effects.

Summer Cultivation Of Fallows

Lethbridge Experimental Station
Weekly Letter

The frequent rain storms of this season have greatly complicated the cultivation of fallows. Ordinarily the root weeder is the best implement to use for the second operation on fallows if it will work satisfactorily. Its draft is lighter than other cultivating implements and if soil conditions are right a good kill of weeds may be secured. When the soil is dry the root weeder operates best when penetrating deeply enough to get below the root crowns of the stubble on plough land. With wet soil, however, it will be a matter of operating at the depth that will appear to give the best weed kill. This will mean some experimentation on the part of the farmer.

The duckfoot cultivator may be satisfactory and there again the condition of the soil and weed growth must determine the depth. Generally best results have been experienced at the Station with clogging if the duckfoot was running under the root crowns of the stubble. Where deeper penetration was permitted the weed kill has been found to be poorer especially in moist soil.

Farmers who have large blade cultivators may find these very useful. If the weeds become large, especially if the top soil is fairly dry. In using this implement at the Station it has been found that the shallower the blade penetrates the better the weed kill except for some types of perennial. Generally, however, it is necessary for the blade to go below the root crowns to operate successfully, especially in moist soil.

The one-way sward undoubtedly will be used for minimum cultivation by many farmers. With the moist condition of the soil an endeavor may be made to turn the weeds under to insure a kill. If this is done the trash cover will be destroyed and the soil placed in a condition for drifting. Instead of using the one-way sward in wet soil it may be better to delay the cultivation until the top soil dries out even if the weeds become larger and some moisture is lost with a dry top soil the weeds can be killed with a shallow one-way and more trash is left on the surface. At best, however, it is difficult to leave a trash where the one-way is used unless the weeds are large.

The plough will be used on more field than usual this year because of the difficulty of destroying weeds in wet soil with other implements. If the plough is used subsequent cultivations should be such as to not pulverize the surface any more than is absolutely necessary.

Where ploughing or one-waying is done on sandy or clay soil, drifting is likely to occur unless cover crops are used for protection. Experience with cover crops indicates that they should be sown by August 1 to give sufficient growth to furnish protection.

RAINS BLOW UP ROAD

Heavy rainfall in many rural sections of Alberta, while beneficial to crop conditions, may have the effect of making it impossible to complete this year's main highway surfacing program.

Officials of the Alberta Motor Association have been informed by the provincial public works department that the bituminous surfacing program has been delayed a month already owing to rainfall, which has made it impossible to proceed with the work at the rate necessary to complete the program this year.

This delay has been acute on the Jasper Highway, west of Edmonton, where only six of the 21 mile program of "blotting" has been finished. Operations also have been slowed up on bituminous surfacing of the main highway between Calgary and Crossfield and south of Calgary on the highway to Waterton.

Despite weather conditions progress is being made on grading and graveling operations, though this work also has been slowed up in various parts of the province.

Given fine weather, it is expected that July will see a spurt in road building operations in all parts of the province.

TOWN PROGRESS

HE WHO RUNS may read the evidence of confidence being shown in the future of Strathmore and its surrounding district. In the past eighteen months building improvements to the extent of several thousands of dollars have been expended on our Main Street alone, to say nothing of the various improvements on the private residences. We watch with a justified feeling of satisfaction the present progress of the "classy" looking front of the Strathmore Refrigeration Ltd. We hear, or was it only rumor that the owners of the King Edward Hotel are contemplating an addition to their frontage corresponding with the "Cold Storage Plant".

This is all to the good from the material standpoint. As to Strathmore being a cultural centre second to none is recognized and freely admitted. This applies not only to the immediate town but equally to very many of the surrounding districts of which Strathmore is the centre. Excelsior is our motto.

POLITICAL UNITY AND THE ROYAL VISIT

DURING THE VISIT of Their Majesties and the weeks following we heard much along the line of burling our differences remaining Canada as a whole, looking to the larger issues, etc., etc.

Now in Alberta we have a golden opportunity to put these precepts into practice if and when we are faced with a Provincial election. There is not much need in the Province for parties along the strictly divided line of politics. This is assuredly the time for the people of Alberta to set aside party politics, and to frame a platform that will advocate and advance government for the best good of our Province and to select men whose aim is the greatest good to the greatest number of the people of Alberta. It is a time fraught with very great and grave responsibility. Let us measure up to the high standard of the natural wealth of our Province. Let us choose men who will prove worthy and true to highest ideal—not self aggrandizement. Let us choose men with a clear cut vision and understanding of the needs of government—not those who meander and grope around from one impractical plan to another of equal impracticality.

CALGARY STAMPEDE

THE PAST, the present, the future will be clearly demonstrated at the Calgary Stampede next week. This is a very colorful entertainment, full of thrills, courage and daring. Other cities have tried to put on successful Stampedes but they lack the atmosphere or that something necessary, which Calgary seems to possess, for this annual event is famed far and wide, and draws thousands of patrons from far away places.

The Stampede represents the West in its pioneer days, when ingenuity and daring called out the human resources of the early settler.

Present conditions are shown like a sandwich between the problems of the past and the amazing development of the present, and the prophesied inventions that await the future.

Ample and varied entertainment is provided for all inclinations. Art for the esthetic.

Flowers and vegetable for the nature lover.

Modern inventions for the creative brain.

Splendid stock for the animal husbandman.

Horse racing for the lover of the "king of sports."

Shiffling riding and dare-devil events for the thrill seekers.

Merry-go-rounds, etc. for the children "old and young."

Indians in all the color and skillful workmanship of their native costumes, etc., etc.

And to open all this panorama of sight sound and color a monster parade two miles or more long that defies description and must be seen to comprehend and be appreciated. This year the parade is adding a large number of floats this will alone merit your trip to Calgary.

See the Stampede Parade Monday, July 10th.

MR. HERRIDGE AND THE NEW DEMOCRACY

IT WAS expected, with more or less confidence that Mr. Herridge in his radio broadcast would give some concrete, definite assurance of the working of such a plan. But alas and alack, his address entirely lacked anything of the sort.

Neither was exemplified of a lot of very familiar platitudes, of which the public have become saturated.

Now along comes Premier Aberhart to the end of that aside—and there we will be to greet you. So, we'll see you all at the CFAC Studio, Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, July 10th to the 15th.

MAN BEHIND THE SCENES—
If you see a young fellow at the Stampede about five feet ten inches in height, dark hair smoothed straight back, wearing a grey corduroy jacket and running about with cables, microphones, amplifiers and sundry equipment that will be his chief baggage, Earl Connor. He has more on his mind than a prime minister, especially now, getting ready for the Stampede. He is not shirking his shoulders and says, "It's all in my day's work." Some of us have followed him on his "day's work", and confidentially, we'd prefer a nice quiet 24-hours stocking coal.

Woodhouse and Hawkins, Born 6000 Miles Apart, Took 22 Years to Meet—
That the comedy team of Woodhouse and Hawkins should have become a team at all is something of a miracle, because the members were born approximately 6,000 miles apart. In 1905, in Victoria, B. CFAC STAMPEDE STUDIO—

Last week we gave you some news regarding the model studio CFAC has built for the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede. Well here we have some more.

From 1.45 right through until a quarter to six, all the broadcasts will be made from the Exhibition grounds, as well as an hour, ten to eleven, in the evening. All the broadcasts will feature live talent.

Harry Hall and his orchestra, dressed in their familiar range costumes, will be on the air every afternoon. They will play tunes that are familiar to the range, and the old barn dance of course, so up to date cowboy or cowboy would miss the latest "litter bug" numbers, so there will be some of those too.

Boyd and Rex, better known as the Texas Pals, will be there, too, with their yodelling and singing. These boys are really father and son, and they will all be in native costumes. You have heard them every morning now for some time on "Good Morning Neighbor", so drop over to the CFAC studio, and see them at work.

Two of your favorite evening entertainers will also make an appearance—Herman Rivby and Jack Friedberg. These two clever artists will demonstrate ringing, playing and dancing, not only as you like to hear it, but as you like to see it.

The name of the program and the time will be the same as their regular broadcast: "Here We Are", at 10.15 every evening.

All your favorite announcers and operators and artists will be at the studio, so that you will be able to see them at work and meet them after the broadcasts. Incidentally, they have some surprises for you, but you will have to be there. Now, here is where we'll be so you won't miss us. Go in the first door of the grandstand building, as you walk south along the Midway. Walk straight ahead until you see the sign "Stampede". We will be to greet you. So, we'll see you all at the CFAC Studio, Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, July 10th to the 15th.

ROSEBUD

Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding, Tuesday, July 4, when twenty-two members of the family and a host of friends joined with them in merry making and honoring the occasion.

Around tables laden with choicest things, the family gathered for both lunch and dinner, as merry was the feast song and story. A huge wedding cake with forty candles there on held the central place on the table.

Music was supplied throughout the afternoon by two players who thrilled the emotions of those in the land of was still in Victoria, but Al had moved west to Calgary. Sixteen years later—1926—Al migrated across the mountains to Vancouver. Then came an afternoon in 1928, when the couple first moved to Al, at a saxophone player in an orchestra, decided to go home to Calgary. Frank, acting independently, looked for the sister, the Voochills city. They met at last. There was, according to Al, been nothing but trouble since.

The two men are widely different in type. Art is rather short and stocky, with mild horn-rimmed eyes set in a roker face, and a tendency to "Scottish" references. Frank is tall and fair, rather English looking, with something of the smartness of a "Guards" officer or a Sandhurst grad. Frank reads a lot and likes music. Art goes in for peanuts and sociability. In ordinary life, they are practically inseparable. On the air, their ability to assume different characters is phenomenal. Thousands of people in Canada still believe there are seven of Woodhouse and Hawkins. It is not merely a matter of voice. They seem to shed an entire personality and assume another.

Woodhouse and Hawkins are heard over CFAC, Fridays at 9 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillies and two children of Dallard, Saskatchewan, came last Saturday for a holiday visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Kerrigan. Mr. D. Kerrigan and family of Seattle are spending part of their holiday with his mother and brothers near Langdon.

Lesson Sermon at All Christian Science

Churches on Sunday. The Golden

Text is Psalm 21:19. One of the

Announcements of the new lumber

porting united political action in the man, and he said to his disciples:

port ye here, while I shall pray" (Mark

14:22). One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with

Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker

Eddy, is "Christians, are you drinking his cup? Have you shared the blood of the New Covenant, the persecutions which attend a new and higher understanding of God? If not, can you say that you have commemorated Jesus in his cup."
